

Newest West Hartford Art League exhibit features CCARC artists

Jun 21, 2017 (0)

f t e p b

West Hartford >> The West Hartford Art League is pleased to announce it will be holding an exhibit of artwork completed by adults at CCARC, a private non-profit organization in New Britain serving people with intellectual and developmental disabilities in its Saltbox Gallery from July 13 to 23.

There will be opening reception Thursday, July 13, from 6-8 p.m. at 37 Buena Vista Road. The opening is free and open to the public.

This special exhibit will highlight work completed in classes taught at CCARC by Vince Stryeski, an architect who donates his time every week to "Making Dreams Happen Through Art." CCARC supports nearly 200 men and woman from throughout Central Connecticut through both day and residential services. Selected work at the exhibit will be available for sale at the opening reception, with all proceeds helping to support programs at CCARC.

"Our art program has opened up a new realm of creativity and meaningfulness for the people we serve," states CCARC's Chief Executive Officer Anne Ruwet. Art League Director Roxanne Stachelek continued "The mission of the West Hartford Art League is 'to educate and inspire' and what Vince and CCARC are doing fits right into that goal. We hope that the public will join us to celebrate this work at the opening reception on the 13th."

For more information on classes and programs at the West Hartford Art League, please visit our website at www.westhartfordart.org or call us at (860) 231-8019.

To learn more about CCARC and its programs, please visit www.CCARC.com.

http://www.westhartfordnews.com/news/newest-west-hartford-art-league-exhibit-features-ccarc-artists/article_92d6cac7-d78d-5b5c-ba8b-cff3a2651825.html